

Monday 28 October 2024

Dear Friend,

With your support, we have come so close to winning this leadership election.

That is why it is critical that you vote before the deadline closes.

Together, we can change British politics forever.

This party is at a crossroads. If we take the wrong path now, we are going to drain away support to Reform, because we will not have a clear, consistent message on immigration.

We will also lose to Labour and the Liberal Democrats because we will not have a clear policy platform for the party to rally behind.

I am ready to take this establishment on, headfirst.

I have made it clear that the Conservative Party of the future should not, and will not take the easy path. We won't let a cosy consensus dictate the positions we take on the most challenging issues facing the country.

We will stand in the common ground of this country, and stand up for the British people at each and every opportunity.

But I can only do that with your help.

I need your vote, and a mandate from our party to transform this country.

To put a stop to a legal system which prioritises the rights of foreign criminals to a family life over the safety of it's citizens. To get our public services working properly, so we do not need to prop them up with international migration.

To strengthen our defences, with a firm, unshakeable commitment to a 3% of GDP target - to be funded by cutting foreign aid.

And I want to do it with you.

We need to revamp this party and turn it in to an election winning machine. One that is ready to determinedly fight the local elections in May, the Scottish and Welsh elections in 2026 and sweep aside this failing Labour government in 2029.

We are a national party. I want to see us to grow our membership. I want to see more young people signing up, like I did, aged 15, to wear the blue rosette with pride.

I want our party to have a proper campaigning strategy, where candidates are chosen freely by local members, are bedded in early and supported by professional election agents.

We must change direction now. Not waste precious time in opposition trying to figure out what we stand for. We need start preparing for next year's local elections straight away.

The indications are that turnout in this leadership election is high. Members are voting. So don't miss out. Use your voice. Vote today.

I am ready to hit the ground running.

Best wishes,

Robert Jenrick.

Rt Hon Robert Jenrick MP

P.S. Please forward this on to friends who are members – my campaign doesn't have access to the CCHQ membership list so not everyone will get this letter without your help!